Class Learning Environment

Explain what students can expect from you during synchronous class time and what you expect from students during class time. Best practice is to focus on desired behaviors rather than prohibited ones.

Attendance is part of your grade as well as participation. You will need to show up to every class unless there is an emergency. If there is, please email me.

Late and Make-Up Work

For every late day, you will be penalized 10% of the original score. If 5 days have passed, I will not accept your late work.

Extra Credit/Bonus Points

Extra credit opportunities will be presented throughout the semester.

Active Pursuit Criteria

Active pursuit cannot be tied to a specific grade. It is a measure of a student's participation in class via attendance and the completion of coursework. In short, a student can be failing while actively pursuing the course. You cannot drop a student who is academically struggling as long as they are attending and turning in course work. Active pursuit should be measured by class participation, taking required examinations, quizzes, submission of required papers, work assignments and class attendance. A sample is below:

Students who are not actively pursuing the course at midterm may be administratively withdrawn from the course and receive an "ADW" on their transcript. Active pursuit is the completion of assignments, in-class-projects and general activities of the class, as well as maintaining attendance that allows you the opportunity to effectively succeed in the course. Students will be considered as actively pursuing this course if they meet the following criteria at midterm:

- Completion of at least 50% of assigned assessments and
- Participation in at least 50% of class sessions

Student Code of Conduct

All students are expected to review and abide by the rules and policies outlined in the Academic and Student Policy, which can be accessed at <https://www.ccc.edu/menu/Pages/Policies.aspx>.

Academic Integrity and Dishonesty

CCC is committed to the ideals of truth and honesty. Students are expected to adhere to high standards of honesty and integrity in their academic endeavors. Plagiarism and cheating of any kind are serious violations of these standards.

Academic dishonesty is a serious offense, which includes but is not limited to the following: cheating, complicity, fabrication and falsification, forgery, and plagiarism. Cheating involves copying another student's paper, exam, quiz, or use of technology devices to exchange information during class time and/or testing. It also involves the unauthorized use of notes, calculators, and other devices or study aids. In addition, it includes the unauthorized collaboration on academic work of any sort. Complicity, on the other hand, involves the attempt to assist another student to commit an act of academic dishonesty. Fabrication and falsification, respectively, involve the invention or alteration of any information (data, results, sources, identity, etc.) in academic work. Another example of academic dishonesty is forgery, which involves the duplication of a signature in order to represent it as authentic. In addition, students who reuse their own material (coursework, published material, research, etc) must receive approval from their current instructor prior to submitting work used in another class, otherwise this may be considered a form of plagiarism. Lastly, plagiarism involves the failure to acknowledge sources (of ideas, facts, charges, illustrations, etc.) properly in academic work, thus falsely representing other source material as one's own work. The use of artificial intelligence tools without the explicit permission of the instructor is a form of academic dishonesty.

In individual cases of academic dishonesty, sanctions may include one or more of the following: an F grade on an assignment where academic dishonesty occurred, a written warning, a failing grade for the course, and/or issuing of an academic dishonesty withdrawal (see ADH – Academic Dishonesty Withdrawal). The severity of the penalty is left to the discretion of the instructor, except the issuing of an academic dishonesty withdrawal which requires Vice President approval. A student may appeal a finding of academic dishonesty (see Appeal Instructional Grading, Academic Dishonesty).

Additional sanctions may be imposed up to and including dismissal from CCC when circumstances warrant it and/or the revocation of a previously awarded degree or certificate (see Revocation of Degrees or Certificates). A student may appeal additional sanctions (see Disciplinary Hearings and Appeal of Discipline).

In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act and Section 504 of the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the City Colleges of Chicago makes every effort to integrate students with disabilities into all courses and programs. Accommodations, based on the documentation received and the needs of the student, are designed to ensure that students, who are otherwise qualified, receive equal access to all of CCC's programs and services. CCC does not alter fundamental academic requirements, but it makes reasonable accommodations for students with documented disabilities. If you have a disability for which you may require accommodations, please contact the Disability Access Center at (773) 291-6170, Patrice Henderson, phenderson10@ccc.edu Google Voice: 773-340-2067.

Title IX

City Colleges of Chicago values the health and safety of every individual on campus and expects students and employees to treat other persons with respect and dignity. Title IX represents the federal law designed to prevent sexual assault and harassment of students on college campuses and promote gender equity in education. Title IX protects you from sexual assault, sexual harassment, and stalking on campus grounds. This includes protection from gender-based violence between any of the following groups: men, women, transgender people, and gender non-conforming persons. By filing a Title IX complaint, you have the right to ask for an Equal Opportunity (EEO) Office internal investigation and reasonable academic accommodations.

Please visit <https://www.ccc.edu/services/Pages/TitleIX-And-You.aspx> to learn more about your rights and how to file a complaint. Note that a student has 180 DAYS from the date of the incident to file their complaint, even if the academic term is over.

We are here to support you. We understand that sexual harassment, sexual assault, and stalking can be difficult to discuss, and that many factors may be involved, including disability, race, religion, gender expression, academic stress, or a relationship with the assailant. Please note that all CCC staff, with the exception of the Wellness Center are mandated reporters, and must file a complaint, even if you should choose not to. The Wellness Center respects confidentiality is not required to report your assault, unlike most faculty and staff under Title IX policy. The Wellness Center provides free and confidential counseling services and referrals to help you determine what is best to do for your self-care and healing.
